

Tilly and the Time Machine

Activity book

Name.....

Design a time machine

Tilly's dad is a scientist and inventor who builds a time machine.

Have a go at designing your own time machine here.

Add labels to show what each part does. What would you use to make it?

A large, empty rectangular box with a thin blue border, intended for a child to draw their own time machine design. The box is centered on the page and occupies most of the lower half of the document.

Now you have your design, maybe you could make a junk model time machine!

If you could go back in time where would you go? Who would you like to meet?

Where in history would you like to go?

Who would you like to meet?

Don't forget to include your own special memories too!

Tilly visits the England v Germany World Cup final in 1966

Lots of people in England like to remember the World Cup final of 1966 because the England won the match, the only time that England has won the World Cup.

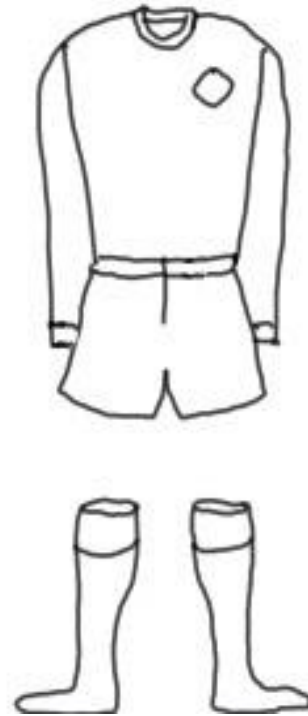

The score was 4 – 2.

Can you find out what the England and Germany football strips looked like and colour in the pictures below. Can you design you own football strip in your own colours?

I was really surprised to find out that some young children were chimney sweeps in Victorian times. Did anything surprise you?

Write your answer in the speech bubble:

Afternoon Tea

Tilly finds out about afternoon tea in Victorian times at school and then travels back in time and actually has tea with Queen Victoria!

What would you have for an extra special afternoon tea? Draw pictures on the cake stand.

Who would you invite to your special tea? I'd invite my dad ... and my mum and maybe Queen Victoria!

Write a letter to the author

Tilly learns all about writing letters at school and LOVES the idea of adding a postscript – (PS, PPS and even PPPS!) She remembers to include them when she writes letters in the story.

Write a letter to Ade Edmondson telling him what you liked about the story, including the funniest bits and the most interesting bits. Don't forget to include a PS or two!
